RESPECT

Let's respect others!

Hey Spike! It is disrespectful to jump the queue.
There are many others in the queue.

Yes Spike. Can you join the queue at the back?

But the weather is so warm! I don't want to stand under the hot sun just to get onto the bus.

Hey Spike. It is a basic courtesy to queue up before boarding a bus. Let's do it the right way!

Alright, thanks for the reminder!
Taking turns is the right thing to do!

CUBBIES TIPS

Ways to treat friends and family with respect

1 Giving words of encouragement

Encourage friends when they face challenges. Show them that you care for them.

Oh dear! I can't solve this Mathematics problem sum.

Do not give up, Tomeo. You can do it! I can teach you if you need help!

2 Being gracious and forgiving

Instead of blaming, forgive one another.

I'm sorry Tosh.
We lost the game,
all because of me.

We did our best. We will put in more effort in our practice next time.

3 Being understanding

Understand the thoughts and feelings of others.

I'm sorry you are feeling sad. I'm here
for you.

COMPLIMENT SOMEONE!

There are many words that can be used to compliment a friend, a family member or someone in school rather than just saying "that's nice".

Here are some synonyms for "nice". Can you think of more synonyms?

Understanding

Kind

Gracious

Compassionate

Generous

Synonym- A word having the same or nearly the same meaning as another in the language.

Create a card to make someone's day!

It is more respectful to compliment rather than criticize!

You may include this sentence in your card.

I think you're _____ because you _____.

E.g. I think you're kind because you offered to help an elderly person cross the road.

Dear _____ ,

From: _____

You may include the synonyms on page 6 in your card.

The Friendship Olympiad

It's Fitness Olympiad season in Kindness Academy and Kalle is all set to win the title of overall champion for the third year running, except that she is paired up with Tomeo for the team race!

Watch this animation and find out how Kalle trains with Tomeo to prepare him for the team race!

What Should I Do?

A new student joins your class. He is from another country that most of you are unfamiliar with. Some of your classmates make fun of the new student and do not include him in school activities.

What can you do to welcome the student?

Invite him to join you during recess

Ask him questions about his culture

Laugh at the way he speaks

Why is it important to show respect for another's culture?

Promote harmony in our multi-racial society

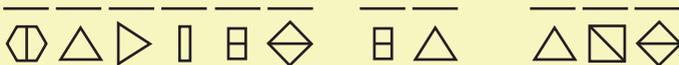

Open our mind to the world around us

Secret Message

Family Time

We are all different,
We are all the same!
(Craft activity)

Using your favourite water colour, get each of your family members to make a handprint on a piece of paper. Each paper with the handprint should be different, as everyone is unique in their own way!

Exchange your paper with another family member, so that you get someone else's handprint.

Using your creativity, add decorations to the handprint by drawing or colouring. How can you make someone else's handprint into a meaningful artwork?

KINDNESS STORIES

Students from Yishun Primary School expressed their appreciation to the school's support staff by writing notes of appreciation and displaying them on a notice board near the school canteen.

How do you show respect and appreciation for your school's support staff?

I greet them when I see them.

I thank them for their help!

I do my part to keep the school clean.

Showing respect can be anything from being polite to accepting one another's differences. How can you show respect to people around you, so that they feel that they are cared for?

Write or draw your kindness stories and share them with Singa and the Kindness Cubbies.

Singa and the Kindness Cubbies are delighted to have received many letters over the June Holidays! Well done, Claire, Cordelia and Hema for helping others at home and in school!

Dear Singa,

My name is Chong Sin Hui, Cordelia. I am 8 years old. I take care of my brother who has autism. I also take care of my baby cousin. It was fun taking care of my brother and baby cousin. I hope you also enjoy taking care of your family.
