HAPPY HOLIDAYS!

Dear Parents,

The holiday season is approaching! School holidays are opportunities for more family fun and togetherness. It is also an opportune time for parents to improve communication and relationships with their children. Research shows that families who spend quality time together and connect activities at home to what children are learning in school have stronger emotional bonds and better communication. While on trips or outings with your child, take every chance to expose them to new ideas and information, reinforce skills and knowledge, as well as moral values. The Family Time activities you find in this issue are specially designed to encourage more acts of kindness that you may complete together.

While most children can demonstrate compassion to a small circle of families and friends, it is also important to help children learn to care about someone outside that circle, such as a new child in class, or the bus driver of their school bus. Understanding and showing compassion is the result of many social emotional skills that are developing in the first few years of your child's life.

Positive values are a form of complex skill that will continue to develop across your child's life. Raising a caring, respectful, ethical child is and always has been hard work, but it's something all of us can do, and no work is more important or ultimately more rewarding.

Happy holidays to you and your family!

*With best wishes,
Singapore Kindness Movement*

KINDNESS ALL YEAR ROUND

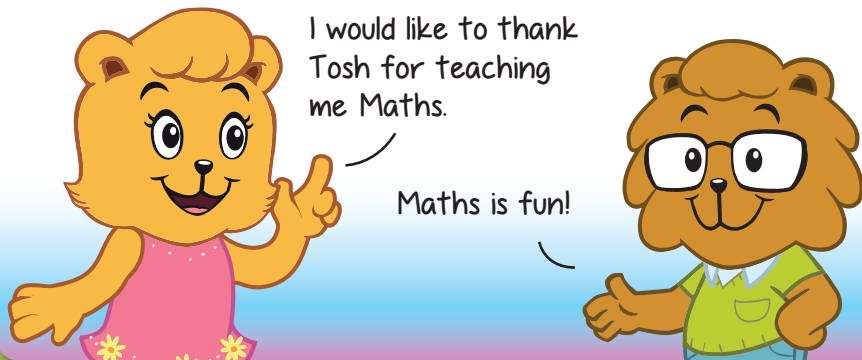

It is coming to the end of a great year. Singa and the Kindness Cubbies are sharing with one another kind acts that they have received.

Kalle asked if I was okay when I fell down at the playground last week. She helped me up and brought me to a teacher. Thank you Kalle!

I would like to thank Tosh for teaching me Maths.

Maths is fun!

Singa has been a great friend. On the first day of school, he talked to me and invited me to play together. Thank you Singa for being my friend.

You're welcome! You are a great friend too.

I will never forget the day Tomeo helped me search for my pencil. We found it soon after.

I know how it feels like when you can't find your favourite stationery.

How about you, Kalle? Do you have anything to share with us?

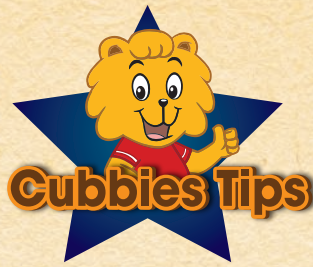

I am thankful to have all of you as my friends. Let's continue to spread kindness!

That's right!

HOW CAN YOU SHOW KINDNESS?

Singa tells how kindness is in us and is all up to us!

Thank you for sharing with me!
