

Issue 3/ 2018

Dear Parents,

Welcome to another issue of Kindsville Times Junior! As Racial Harmony Day and National Day approach, we are reminded of how respect contributes to the harmony and unity our diverse nation enjoys. Thus, our theme for this issue is respect and harmony.

In their growing years, children are curious by nature. The pre-school years enhance this trait as children interact with each other and are exposed to new social dynamics. At the same time, they begin to pay more attention to their surroundings and people's perspectives. Parents can take this opportunity to nurture a welcoming and embracing mind-set towards the differences they observe around them.

It is important that we channel their interest and use it as an avenue to build respect, understanding and empathy for others. The world today is characterised by diversity and the ability to build relationships with different groups of people is a key 21st century skill.

As our children attempt the various activities or even during family time together, we can steer the conversation to the relevant values, drawing from their daily interactions and experiences with others.

As you take time out for the upcoming commemorative days, we hope that kindness will also be encouraged and celebrated throughout the nation with an increased respect for everyone and harmony between all.

*With best wishes,
Singapore Kindness Movement*

RIDE WITH KINDNESS

Kalle and Sher are heading to the Ice Cream Parlour. The Kindsville Express finally arrives and they flag the bus down.

Kalle and Sher look for seats on the bus.

Look, there are seats at the back of the bus. Let's go!

Kalle and Sher are chatting when they saw an injured Singa.

HOW CAN YOU SHOW RESPECT TO OTHERS AROUND YOU?

- 1 Listen to others when they are talking.

- 2 Be polite, and remember to say “thank you” to others.

Thank you for helping me!

- 3 Ask for permission before taking someone else’s things.

Hi Kalle, may I borrow this pair of scissors please?
