RACIAL HARMONY DAY

Understanding & Appreciating DIFFERENT CULTURES

Kindsville is celebrating Racial Harmony Day.

It's Racial Harmony Day, everyone!

Isn't it amazing? We all get along wonderfully even though we have fur of different colours.

Yes, Kalle! Racial Harmony is all about accepting and understanding others, even when they're different.

Have you heard? There's a nearby town called Saharoo. There are red-coloured cubbies over there!

How unique. I've never seen a red cubbie before!

Why don't we visit Saharoo? We can get to know them better!

A trip? Count me in!

In Saharoo, the Kindville cubbies are excited to meet the red cubbies.

Hello!
We are the Kindness Cubbies.

We are from Kindville!

Nice to meet you all!

Would you like a tour of our town?

Hehehe.
< Look at that bright red fur... They look so funny! >

< And look!
They all wear the same pendants! They must be weirdos! >

Spike! Don't speak
in your secret
language when people
are talking to us.
It's very rude!

I know he's not saying something nice. It's hurtful.

I'm sorry.
Spike was being mean.

Don't worry, I won't take it to heart. He just hasn't had the chance to understand our culture!

We're happy to chat
and share more about it,
if you like!

We'd love that!
Right, Spike?

I suppose...

"A long, long time ago,
there was a scary
monster in Saharoo.
It loved scaring
little children!"

"The townspeople had tried many ways to kill it but they all failed."

"They finally succeeded by working together and built a huge maze to trap it!"

And that's why we all wear
this pendant which is shaped like a maze.

It reminds us of our ancestors who showed unity and perseverance
when fighting a common enemy.

It inspires us to be united like them! If we work hard and work together, we can achieve great things!

Wow. That's actually very meaningful... )

As for our red fur...
We can't help what colour we are, right?

We were born
this way and we are proud of it!

That's right!

Yeah!
It doesn't matter
how we look!

What matters is being kind with our words and actions even if we don't know the person...

And even if they're different from us!

BINGO! This is a wonderful lesson for Racial Harmony Day!
Do you know why we
mark it every year?

It is to celebrate
all the different cultures living harmoniously
together!

Racial harmony is what makes our society awesome!

I'm sorry I was rude and judgemental earlier. I know it's important to celebrate our differences now.

All is forgiven,
Spike!

Let's celebrate our diversity this RACIAL HARMONY DAY!

LET'S PLAY SNAKES AND LADDERS TOGETHER!

HOW TO PLAY

You will need a counter for every player and a die. You may use small objects such as erasers as counters.

1. The person who initiated this game starts first.
2. Take turns rolling the die and move your counter forward according to the number on the die.
3. If you land at the bottom of a ladder, skip ahead by climbing up the ladder.
4. If you land on a snake tail, slide back down.
5. You must land exactly on the last square to win.

SNAKES

- 18 – You have just excluded someone in school from playing together. That was unkind!
- 22 – You chose your project group friends based on their looks. That was mean!
- 26 – Oh no! You made an insensitive comment about your classmate's lunchbox and had no courage to apologise.
- 27 – There was a wedding celebration in your neighbourhood. You complained about the noise.
- 31 – You made fun of your friend when he shared about his cultural practices. You did not show respect to your friend and his culture.

LADDERS

- 1 - Good job! You learnt something new by asking your friend respectfully about his/her culture.
- 4 - It was thoughtful of you to send your good wishes to your neighbours for their festival celebration!
- 7 - Great! You showed care and concern to someone who was bullied.
- 17 - Awesome! You ate and played with friends from different ethnic communities during recess!
- 23 - That's the way! You had a fun time and participated actively in your school's Racial Harmony Day activities.

FEATURED LETTERS

Dear Singa and the Kindness Cubbies,

If I were to give a Kindness Award to someone, I would give it to my friend, Sherise. When I was in Primary 3, one of my classmates would bully me. She told my friends to spy on me. However, Sherise was kind to me. Sherise would ask me to go to the canteen with her during recess. When the bully taunted me or rolled her eyes at me, Sherise would tell me to ignore her. At first, I had thought that Sherise was spying on me. After some time, I began to trust Sherise and would look forward to spending time with her. Even though the bully is still mean to me now, it does not bother me anymore because I have Sherise as a friend.

Dear Singa and the Kindness Cubbies,

If I were to give a Kindness Award to someone, I would give it to my friend, Tang Kok Xun. When I cry, Kok Xun would always make me feel better. When I do not know something, he would teach me. Even though many of my friends think of him as a very naughty boy, I always saw him as a thoughtful friend. I have been friends with him since I was in pre-school. We would always help each other out. Although we sometimes fight when we disagree with each other, we would always figure things out together and make up. Kok Xun is a good friend and he deserves the Kindness Award.
